This intensive course examines negative attitudes—racism in particular—from a social-psychological perspective situated within the historical and cultural context of South Africa. This location provides students with opportunities to learn about stereotypes, prejudice, and discrimination in a culture shaped by a long history of institutionalized racism. The experience of living within this culture and interacting with its people will allow students to gain a sense of the real effects of such attitudes. Highlights include:

- Immersion in the historical and cultural context of South Africa and direct interaction with its people
- Garden Route Tour: includes Knysna Elephant Park, Plettenberg Bay, The Cango Caves, Tsitsikama National Park and more
- Earn 3 credits toward psychology, sociology, Africana studies, general elective, or Arts and Letters Social Science Requirement (ALSS)
- Enjoy cultural activities and excursions in Johannesburg and Cape Town: Soweto, Apartheid Museum, Robben Island, and more
- 2-day safari at Kruger National Park, a UNESCO World Heritage Site
- Service opportunities
- Full access to gym facilities at the University of Cape Town Research Unit for Exercise Science and Sports Medicine
